From Policy to Practice: Promoting a Resilient, Net Zero Future

NOVEMBER 3, 2021 | 5:00 PM - 6:30 PM (GMT) | 1:00 PM - 2:30 PM (ET) hosted at a premiere location between the COP26 Blue Zone and Glasgow city center, with live webcast

BOTH IN PERSON AND LIVE WEBCAST

Exclusive Dialogue:

As business and government make ambitious climate commitments at COP26, unprecedented action will be needed to operationalize the vision of a 1.5C world. This demands both new approaches and rapid adoption of proven practices, from finance to project management to stakeholder engagement. This event will explore emerging insights into ways to spur climate action in areas such as energy, finance, and trade and ensure that generational investments deliver a range of co-benefits.

This premier gathering will draw on local insights that have global relevance and promise to accelerate both the Race to Resilience and the Race to Zero. This is a special opportunity to hear from the public- and private-sector leaders about what's happening inside the COP26 Blue Zone, what's not, and where we go from here.

Networking to follow, with light refreshments served. RSVP here to attend.
